ABSTRACT

In the present research, a sociological study of marriage related problems faced by marriageable boys and girls in the society has been done. Today, there is no equality between boys and girls, the number of girls is decreasing day by day, and the expectations of girls regarding their future spouses have increased significantly. In such a situation, there is a problem of child marriages in normal families and their marriageable age is passing away. From this, it can be seen that social health is deteriorating due to a large amount of stress and tension among the youth. In such a situation, there is an urgent need for active efforts at the social level to solve the marriage problems.

INTRODUCTION

Due to the imbalance in the number of boys and girls in the society, it has become very difficult for children to get married. Some parents try to overcome this problem and arrange the marriage of the child. They succeed in it. But later they get confused thinking whether the marriage will last or not. As the times change, the needs of the society have changed and the hopes and expectations regarding marriage are also changing to a great extent. Because of those marriage hopes and expectations, a large section of the society is single. If such a situation persists for a long time, it will have adverse effects on the family system, besides this matter may lead to disastrous consequences in the society, and you may have to suffer far-reaching consequences.

Generally, a decade ago, the girl's father used to go into debt for the marriage of his daughter, to provide education facilities for her to get a good place and to get her married according to her age. But day by day there has been a big change in the society. In the past, due to the difficulties in the marriage of girls, in addition to the unwritten dowry system in the society regarding the marriage of girls, as well as the huge expenses incurred on the wedding ceremony, many of the parents of the girls were in debt. The history of the past five to ten years is witness to the fact that the path of suicide is also adopted for debt repayment. As a result of that, some couples in the society set the tone that they don't want a girl child and today it is actually being seen. Small family, happy family, separated family system, time not available due to job occupation, due to this discrimination, the proportion of girls in the society is reduced to a large extent.

Due to the decrease in the number of girls in the family, the family's expenditure on girls, mainly the expenses and hassles of arranging a girl's marriage, also decreased. The unequal ratio of boys and girls in the society, with more boys and fewer girls, did not last long. When the son of a couple who did not want a daughter a decade ago got married, but he is facing a lot of difficulties in getting a daughter as a daughter-in-law. In such a situation, many people have taken a middle path and got married, but many children are still unmarried even when marriage is suitable.

However, the question did not end there. Anxiety increased after marriage. That is the end of marriage. Some time ago there were at least three or four girls in a house. There are instances in the society where many have had seven to eight daughters due to the misconception that the tribe needs a lamp. The father could not appreciate so many daughters. So the girls had no choice but to be happy at home. After the marriage of the daughter, it used to be a bit rough, but then there are thousands of couples whose world has become smoother.

But now times have changed. For one thing, the father comes to Metakuti because the son's marriage is not arranged soon, and after that, within a few days, quarrels start between the son and the daughter-in-law. Mother-in-law's remarks are difficult with buses. The father wonders what to do in such a situation. Quarrels start at home over the simplest of things.

Girls are stubborn. Some children do not have a job, even if the salary is low, they do not understand what to do with it. The matter does not stop there, some girls also feel the problem of mother-in-law in the house. Apart from this, the husband, son and family members lose their health due to various factors such as illness at home, children's education, business difficulties, capital difficulties in case of agriculture, wage problems.

The result of this is that the newly married girl starts going home continuously. The father-in-law begins to complain. Therefore, the interference of the girl's mother and father in the girl's life increases. Of course, some girls are exceptions to this. They continue to compromise in the hope of having a happy world in the future. Even people who have never earned a penny themselves advise the boy to earn money by doing work.

The situation is very strange. A child does not understand how to coordinate with mother, father, brother, sister and wife. At this age, not everyone has the understanding to calmly think and find a way. The environment becomes more complex and finally the path to independent living is made. He gets more and more distressed as he takes care of his separate house. This is where some kids stumble. Make friends with addicts. If the person recovering during this period is benefited then it is fine otherwise there is further air damage.

When such things start happening from the husband, the bride, who has a dream in her mind, gets scared and starts looking for someone to support her. She tries to improve the situation but realizes that everything is in vain. Relatives do not have to worry too much about being independent.

At such times, it seems that the girls succeed in taking care of the situation but the ones in the dream fail. At such a time, it is necessary for the elders in the village, in the area, in the relationship, to say two things. Otherwise again in court cases, court dates, hewedavas everyone's life is ruined like gold.

Just as a child gets married with effort today, so too should a marriage be maintained with effort. Things do not always turn out as expected. It is necessary to get used to it. In order for your family to be happy, content and happy, family members need to observe certain restrictions. Which will make the evening of life pleasant.

Everything in the house should be spoken. Don't hide it. If you make a mistake, admit it. Better to apologize. Tease one at a time. The head of the household should be aware that everyone in the household has an opinion. Remove from your mind that your son or husband is only yours. Don't overdo it. Everyone in the house should learn to appreciate each other's qualities.

Help someone else but don't talk about it. Try to keep the temperament holistic. Things between husband and wife or family should not be told outside. For this, one should practice mind control. Put rock sugar on the tongue and ice on the head. Avoid the company of the wicked. Try to be happy.

The husband should avoid disrespecting the wife and the wife should avoid disrespecting the husband so that the extreme will not happen. Don't argue for a fee. Don't gossip to adults. If we accept such worldly things, the world of the youth of the society will not be happy. Family problems will also go away.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE STUDY

Once upon a time, the society believed that a girl child was a burden to the family, but today, most of the families say that an unmarried, marriageable boy is a burden to the family. In the present era, competition has increased greatly due to the increase in the level of education, the expectations of boys and girls have increased greatly, but the increase in the level of education and expectations has not been reflected in the increase in employment, jobs, business. In such a situation, it is seen that the rate of educated unemployment has increased to a great extent. In earlier times, the amount of education was less, the family had some kind of traditional business, after completion of education, the children were given employment in traditional business, not the elders entrusted them with the responsibility of running their old business. But in this era of competition, many generational businesses were destroyed. In the split family system, family farms have been fragmented, horticultural agriculture has become dry due to environmental imbalance, even though the expenditure on education has increased, there is no guarantee of employment or employment through that education. Half life is at stake to complete education, marriageable age but due to lack of job and no means of income unemployed youth are neglected in the field of marriage. Most of the girls nowadays have the idea that their prospective groom should be a high-ranking official, government servant, have a farm, have a job in Pune Mumbai, but not all boys can fulfill this expectation, and because the level of education of girls in the society is constantly increasing, the education of girls is increasing. And boys leave their education halfway with family responsibilities, so girls are not ready to marry boys who are less educated than them; even their parents support their demand. As a result, even after getting married, most of the children are living unmarried. If this problem increases day by day, the existence of the society and the family is likely to be threatened, thus chaos may prevail in the society and immoral activities may be encouraged. The risk is the highest. Many of its effects can be seen in big cities today. In such a situation, it is seen that it is the need of the hour to study the problems of boys and girls in this age group and solve their problems.

OBJECTIVE OF THE STUDY

1. To study marriage problems faced by marriageable boys and girls
2. To study the expectations regarding marriage of marriageable boys and girls.
3. To suggest measures to ensure that marriageable children get married at an appropriate age.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Descriptive research methodology has been used for the presented research. The number of marriageable boys and girls in the society has increased tremendously. Many boys and girls do not appear to be married until they are in their forties. Secondary facts have been compiled and descriptively analyzed by studying the available material to study the reasons behind this, what are the problems due to which marriageable boys and girls do not get married at the right age of marriage, what are the hopes and expectations regarding their marriage. .

ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION

Various reasons are responsible for marriage of marriageable boys and girls not getting married at a suitable age. It is mainly the increased level of education of boys and girls, even though the level of education has increased, it cannot be said that the right type of employment will be obtained through education, due to this, the resulting unemployment, the expectations from the children regarding the marriage of the parents of girls, the level of education of girls is more than that of boys, due to the increase in the modern lifestyle. Positive role of parents towards children living in the city, income of children, own house, family wealth, beauty of boys and girls, increasing expectations of girls are causing a lot of problems in the marriage of marriageable boys and girls.

CONCLUSION

There are a lot of expectations regarding the marriage of girls these days. Nowadays, girls bring a lot of jerry for the reason that the family members should see the same as well as the marriage expectations. The boy should be fair and tall, I want a boy in Pune, he needs a lot of salary. He should take him abroad at least twice a year, even the honeymoon should be abroad. He should have a three-four bedroom flat or his own bungalow. He should adorn his wife and daughter abundantly and in modern fashion. Girls want a ready-made empire in which they want servants and servants for all the work in the house, and there is no risk in terms of money. A child must have money. Many parents and daughters are of the opinion that money is nothing these days and so on. On the contrary, in normal families, it is seen that in some cases it is different in relation to their daughters, there is no big expectation that the son should be like that. So they hope to get a normal family. Such a situation is also found in some families.

Many people have the question whether to laugh or cry after hearing and experiencing these kinds of expectations. Due to such a list of high expectations, incidents and incidents of marriage break up are seen happening in the society in a big way. It is time to prevent these situations. Girls who expect more than this need for marriage are often their close relatives or friends. While having such expectations, they don't even want to examine themselves as human beings. They should also check whether we are capable of expressing such expectations. In reality, nothing appears to be happening.

On the one hand, parents who expect a husband with a high salary, their daughter has no means of income of her own, and yet she expects it from him. Today's girls seem to have no compromises when it comes to finances. In fact, there is no risk to be taken. They want everything ready, the future husband wants his own bungalow/flat with all the comforts, a decent paying job, and also a four wheeler at a place where everything is kept. Names like mother-in-law and mother-in-law are not wanted in the house. Expecting these girls to remain mere ornaments in the home is equally insidious and stunts one's own progress as a human being. The girl's family members also feel that the boy must earn a lot of money. It should be none of his business either. A business has financial ups and downs, rather it should be a jobber. The job should be govt and if not govt, it should be lucrative. Even today, boys and girls are urged to choose a suitable career field in order to find a suitable place for marriage. If someone chooses a different career path, those people become outcasts, considered crazy. Even today in rural areas marriages are decided only after watching the 7/12 excerpt. Even if the girl has to wash the dishes of the people who came to that house all day, it will be fine. You must have value in the marriage market. A child having his own farm or his own carpet area for marriage has become important in today's scenario!

A girl takes care of her entire house efficiently before marriage, but after marriage she does not want to do any hard work. So then she looks for places that are rich in money. She does not want to do any work with her father-in-law. After marriage, her tendency to work hard is over. Another current trend in marriage is to not want a boy in the arts or creative field. The reason behind this is that it takes time for these churches to 'settle'. No one is willing to see them as human beings. These trends are not only among girls but also among boys. Some people deliberately search for single girl sites. After the girl's parents, their property will belong to their son, the cunning motive behind it. Some guys don't want a carnivorous girl. You don't want a girl who is outspoken and has her own opinion. We want a girl who can take care of her own job and take care of the house. Marriage resumes and bride introductions by different castes are very provocative and entertaining at the same time. Even if you are very uneducated, your partner is expected to be an engineer, doctor, lawyer and 'well settled'. Whether the girl is working or not working, marriage is a personal matter of everyone but marriage is becoming globalized in every family in our country. It includes everything from balloons to kilos of jewellery. If married in a simple way, there is a strong suspicion that there is definitely something wrong between the two.

Marriage is a very fluid, slow and equally important event in everyone's life. Marriage brings together two families with two minds in a beautiful relationship. These relationships should not be confused with the trading of such expectations. It is very important for both the married people to understand each other and support each other in every matter. Those who marry by setting standards of offensive and blind expectations, must learn to see their partner as a human being first. It should be inculcated in every household that both boys and girls should take care of their own family in financial matters, at the same time, children should also help in household chores.

Girls should remember that we want to marry a living person and not an ATM, boys should remember that we are not going to marry a machine that does housework all the time. In short, why keep these beautiful strands of silk tied to such unrealistic expectations? The basic expectation is that the 'his and her' journey in the marriage relationship should be smooth, tolerable and reasonable. The joy of caring for each other in a loving and caring companionship, caring for each other's hearts without sliding a list of unrealistic and incomprehensible expectations before each other, gives a lifetime of positive golden gifts. In the age of digitization, instead of making your emotions too digital and over-practical, let emotions remain fluid. Only then, the humanity of people lost in the chaos of unrealistic expectations of marriage will be seen. Marriage is a very important matter that will bring a positive turn in everyone's life. Only then will the institution of marriage become truly auspicious and help to reduce the social problems related to marriage to some extent.
